

Eastern Lebanon HIGH NEWS

By Maryann Shelhamer

Amid cheering, yelling and waving banners, the campaign for the Elco student body president was officially launched Wednesday afternoon.

Kenneth Rittle, a junior, and sophomore Charles Berger, contestants for the coveted office, revealed their platforms to the assembled senior high school students.

The ballots will be cast Monday, after this strenuous week of campaigning.

National Future Nurses Day, May 13, was celebrated last Friday afternoon in a senior high school assembly. The program, introduced by Lorraine Weidman, featured a film depicting the career of a nurse from an FNA club member to a full-fledged R.N.

The development of modern medical science — its advancements and improvements — was related to the seniors in their large group study Tuesday by Dr. Drew E. Courtney.

Kenneth Rittle, Elco Student Council vice president, has been selected as one of two representatives from a nine-county district to attend the National Student Council Conference at Tacoma, Washington, June 26-30.

The 23-day trip will include the five-day conference in addition to visits to various scenic, historical and recreational sights.

Senior high school students will no longer think of Iceland as a far-away country studied only in history books. Arni Magnusson has made sure of that.

In an illustrated lecture this afternoon, Elco's foreign exchange student made the people, the customs, the jobs, and the country of Iceland come alive.

The juniors will take a positive step into the future tomorrow morning as they take the College Board Test at Lebanon High School.